Great State's History

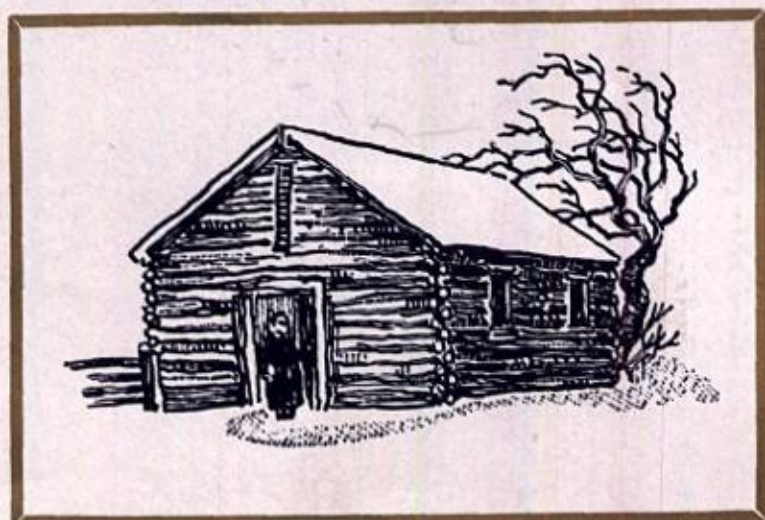

Yesterday and today! Stirring deeds, violent clashes, spiritual growth, material wealth, and famous names are recorded in the history of our state, now observing its Territorial Centennial birthday.

A backward glance—we see pioneer wagon trains leveling the grass of the prairies. Sod shanties become homes in the wilderness. That light, the stronghold of Democracy, Education, is bright in the little log school.

Today, the North Star State with its iron mines, busy cities, vast farms, and smoking factories pays tribute to its pioneers. The little log school house has given way to a great educational system of which we at Murray High School are a part.

The Staff of the 1949 PILOT hopes that it has recaptured for its readers moments of yesterday while recording in picture and story the events of today.

To Miss Catherine Daly

A pioneer in her own right is Miss Catherine Daly, who started the counselling department in 1939, when Murray's life as a high school had scarcely begun. This pioneering work was not an easy task; it entailed countless difficulties and required patience. Through the years the guidance program, fostered by Miss Daly, has grown and is now recognized by parents, students, and faculty alike as an indispensable service. A pacemaker in this worthy endeavor, Miss Daly has endeared herself to the student body not only because of her tireless spirit and sympathetic assistance, but also as a genuine friend.

Miss Daly wins admiration almost instantly as she brings to light in a masterful way apt illustrations that teach lessons or add "zip" to otherwise dull events. As an adviser she has helped hundreds to make adjustments and decisions that often affect the patterns of their entire lives. To her each person is very important and is given the aid he as a distinct individual needs.

In grateful appreciation for the innumerable services she has rendered Murray students, the staff takes great pleasure in dedicating this 1949 PILOT to Miss Catherine Daly.

IT'S WINTER IN MINNESOTA

Minnesota winters! Beautiful, crisp mornings when your breath hangs in a white vapor and the snow sounds brittle and sharp under your feet. Pine tree branches heavy with their white burden contribute quiet beauty to nature's winter scenery. Numb fingers and toes, red cheeks, and cold noses dominate the season.

Hockey players in their bright blue and gold uniforms can be seen practicing on the near-by ponds and lakes long since frozen. The younger fry have their fun tobogganing on the steep hills, and speed skaters practice for national titles at near-by Como Park. This is the time when Murray provides welcomed warmth for those who walk or ride to school.

BRIDGE A CENTURY'S SPAN

Looking the part of a contrite offender is Margaret McNamara standing by the stove. Seated are Marilyn Nelson, Carol Mulroy, and Ruth Immer. Standing, and pulling Carol's braids, are Daniel Hill and Charles Brookins. Jerry Hughes takes a dipper of water from the pail held by Phillip Nelson.

Ask where the staff found the perfect setting for this old fashioned room! You will scarcely believe that the scene is across the street from Murray. The editors borrowed the accommodating and lively seventh graders and away went the group to the "Shrine" on the Luther Theological Seminary Campus. Through the courtesy of Dr. T. F. Gullixson, president, the staff was allowed to use this little church for a school room. The willing subjects entered into the spirit of "school days"—wrote on slates, pulled braids, and drank from the community dipper.

In marked contrast to the long ago is a scene typical of the modern educational trend. Here Charlotte Miller, Beverly Bailey, and Paul Christianson are broadcasting from St. Paul's WTCN radio station.

TEACHERS TAKE WORK,

Stencil, stylus, and mimeoscope become familiar words to Miss Valborg Helseth's and Miss Eleanor Steelesmith's business students. Daily bulletins and other school material are efficiently mimeographed by the pupils. Here Ruth Hunt and Joan Bufton are demonstrating their skill under the watchful eye of the two instructors.

Down Bergup's alley Mr. Albert Sandberg, hockey coach, Mr. George Bergup, Mr. Bernard Quinn, physics instructor, and Mr. Robert Ritter, biology instructor, visit between classes. In addition to his teaching wood shop, Mr. Bergup directs the sale of lockers and stands by to help students who have locker difficulties or forget combinations after vacations.

*To our girl of many projects
Mrs. Betty Baker*

Murray's home economics room is always a beehive of activity as girls learn the arts of cooking and sewing. Mrs. Leona Hanson instructs Helen Cerini, sewing at the machine, as Mrs. Elizabeth Baker lends a helping hand to Joyce Brusoe who tries on the coat she has made.

In the modern classroom maps and atlases furnish a background for understanding timely events in this fast-moving world of today. Bringing many phases of history and social studies to light in an interesting way, Mrs. Marie Gilbert, Miss Virginia Fertig, and Miss Bertha Muedeking make students conscious of one world.

Merry Christmas in any language means fun and merry making. Mrs. Mary Harmon, Mr. Bernard Winkelman, and Miss Mabel Surratt have really caught the Christmas spirit as seen by the smiles on their faces. Many stories of Christmas are familiar to English teachers, Mrs. Harmon and Miss Surratt, but Mr. Winkelman, German instructor, feels no one celebrates Christmas with as much festivity as the Germans.

Hobbies make a fascinating pastime and provide an escape from daily routine as shown by three of Murray's mathematics teachers. Miss Olive Batschelet takes excellent care of her many plants, and finds much enjoyment in her pitcher collection of over 300. Miss Louise Smith is very fond of music, but at the moment she seems to be interested in discussing geology with Mrs. Helene Becker. Mrs. Becker has collected many specimens for her study of geology.

LEADERS, STUDENTS—

MARK EDUCATION'S PROGRESS

Each in his chosen field of interest, yet all keenly aware of education as an enriching experience, are the above leaders.

Seated are Mr. John Wooley, Murray's assistant principal, Mr. Selmer Berg, superintendent of St. Paul's public schools, Mr. William Scanlan, principal of Murray, and Mr. Glenn Varner, director of high schools.

Standing and looking at the material under consideration are Owen Eckblom, senior class president, and Charles Grose, president of Murray's Student Council.

Here in the atmosphere of sharing ideas and experiences young people learn to appreciate and to evaluate the problems of the modern school.

BULLETINS, RESEARCH, WEIGHING

AND SO THE DAY BEGINS

*Best of luck,
Florence Vest*

The play's the thing which must be selected with a great deal of care and consideration by Miss Florence Vest and the senior class. Librarian Miss Marion Gratz seems to have found a play that she thinks will be a hit with both. Necessary to all dramatic productions is the attractive scenery made by the art department under the supervision of Miss Marie Darche shown holding a sample.

Health and physical fitness are extremely important subjects to Mrs. Inez Gugisberg who instructs everything from ballroom dancing to volley ball in Murray's gymnasium. Mrs. George Bergup, school nurse, concerned about the health of each person at Murray, does a little checking up on the faculty. Waiting her turn on the scale is Miss Catherine Daly, personnel director.

AND TODAY BECOMES YESTERDAY

September 1948—Freshmen arrive wide-eyed and full of anticipation to begin their high school life. Sophomores assume that "grown-up" air deceiving only to the freshmen. Juniors become organized and begin plans for exciting events including the biggest of all—the Prom. By this time, seniors are knee-deep in activities. Football heroes, Student Council officers, Library Club members, Girls' and Boys' Leagues strive to make their last year the best, and to leave behind them memories of a fine class, both to the school and for their own personal satisfaction. Plans for a yearbook that will record the progress made in 1949, and make these memories more lasting, are under way. A curly-haired mascot is created by art editor Kyle Peterson to take the blame for mistakes of the inexperienced editors, picture failures, and budget problems. This little fellow, Sure 'Nuff, becomes fascinated by Murray's many sports and activities, participating actively in certain organizations and silently observing the rest from his post in the window of the journalism office.

But nobody notices him as he watches the months begin to roll by, full of now past pleasures and events, which Sure 'Nuff discovers go with the homework and extra responsibilities of activities to make school the place where character is formed and personalities improved and well-rounded. He sees great progress made in what pupils fondly call student government under the president, Charles Grose. He witnesses the formation of a new Hi-Y, the Como Park Chapter, and sees the two chapters recognized as organizations of the school.

When the seniors pay their visit to Golling's, Sure 'Nuff dons his best T-shirt and goes along.

Convinced that his proofs do not do him justice, he insists upon retakes as do most of the other seniors.

Sure 'Nuff particularly loves dress rehearsals and makes a great deal of noise with his fireworks as sound-effects man for the Senior Class Play, You Can't Take It With You. He can't be kept away from the auditorium as the choir practices its operetta, The Chimes of Normandy, and serves faithfully on the makeup committee.

One day, while browsing through confidential matters of the PILOT staff, Sure 'Nuff discovers that some of his pals are being sent to have their pictures taken in strange costumes. Sure 'Nuff conceals himself in the pocket of Don Harvey who he learns is posing as a pioneer with Marlene Stephens to depict the theme, "Yesterday and Today", with Mary Sue Krebs representing the present, looking down at them. Each section is to be introduced by a student of today looking back on the pupil of yesterday. On the faculty and class page, Kenneth Larson witnesses Ralph Engebretson preparing to discipline seventh grader Gladys Smith in the manner common in the log school house. Gordon Lindgren and Richard Swanson would make stiff competition for any team as observed by John Davidson. Mary Ellen Hoagland sees Denis Bakke and Mary Higgins as the sedate couple of a nineteenth century school would appear.

Now today, Senior Day, is here and The PILOT is yours to enjoy in this present and to keep for another day when time has continued its march of progress of events.

SENIOR BOARD

First row: Howard Venners; Jerry Gillett; Jerry Pickering, treasurer; Miss Louise Pederson, adviser; Art Koch; Beverly Bailey, vice president; Irene Voita.

FORTY-NINERS MINE FOR IDEAS

Just as the Centennial marks a milestone for Minnesota, so graduation is an important event in the lives of us, the seniors, who comprise Murray's largest graduating class.

The freshman year found us engrossed with new friends, changing classes, and searching in vain for the swimming pool supposedly located on the roof. As sophomores we were "on to the ropes" and spent leisure time at canteens and athletic events. It was in our junior year that we became organized with the able assistance of Miss Valborg Helseth and Miss Louise Pederson, class advisers. Successful parties and projects followed, climaxed by the Junior-Senior Prom at the Women's City Club.

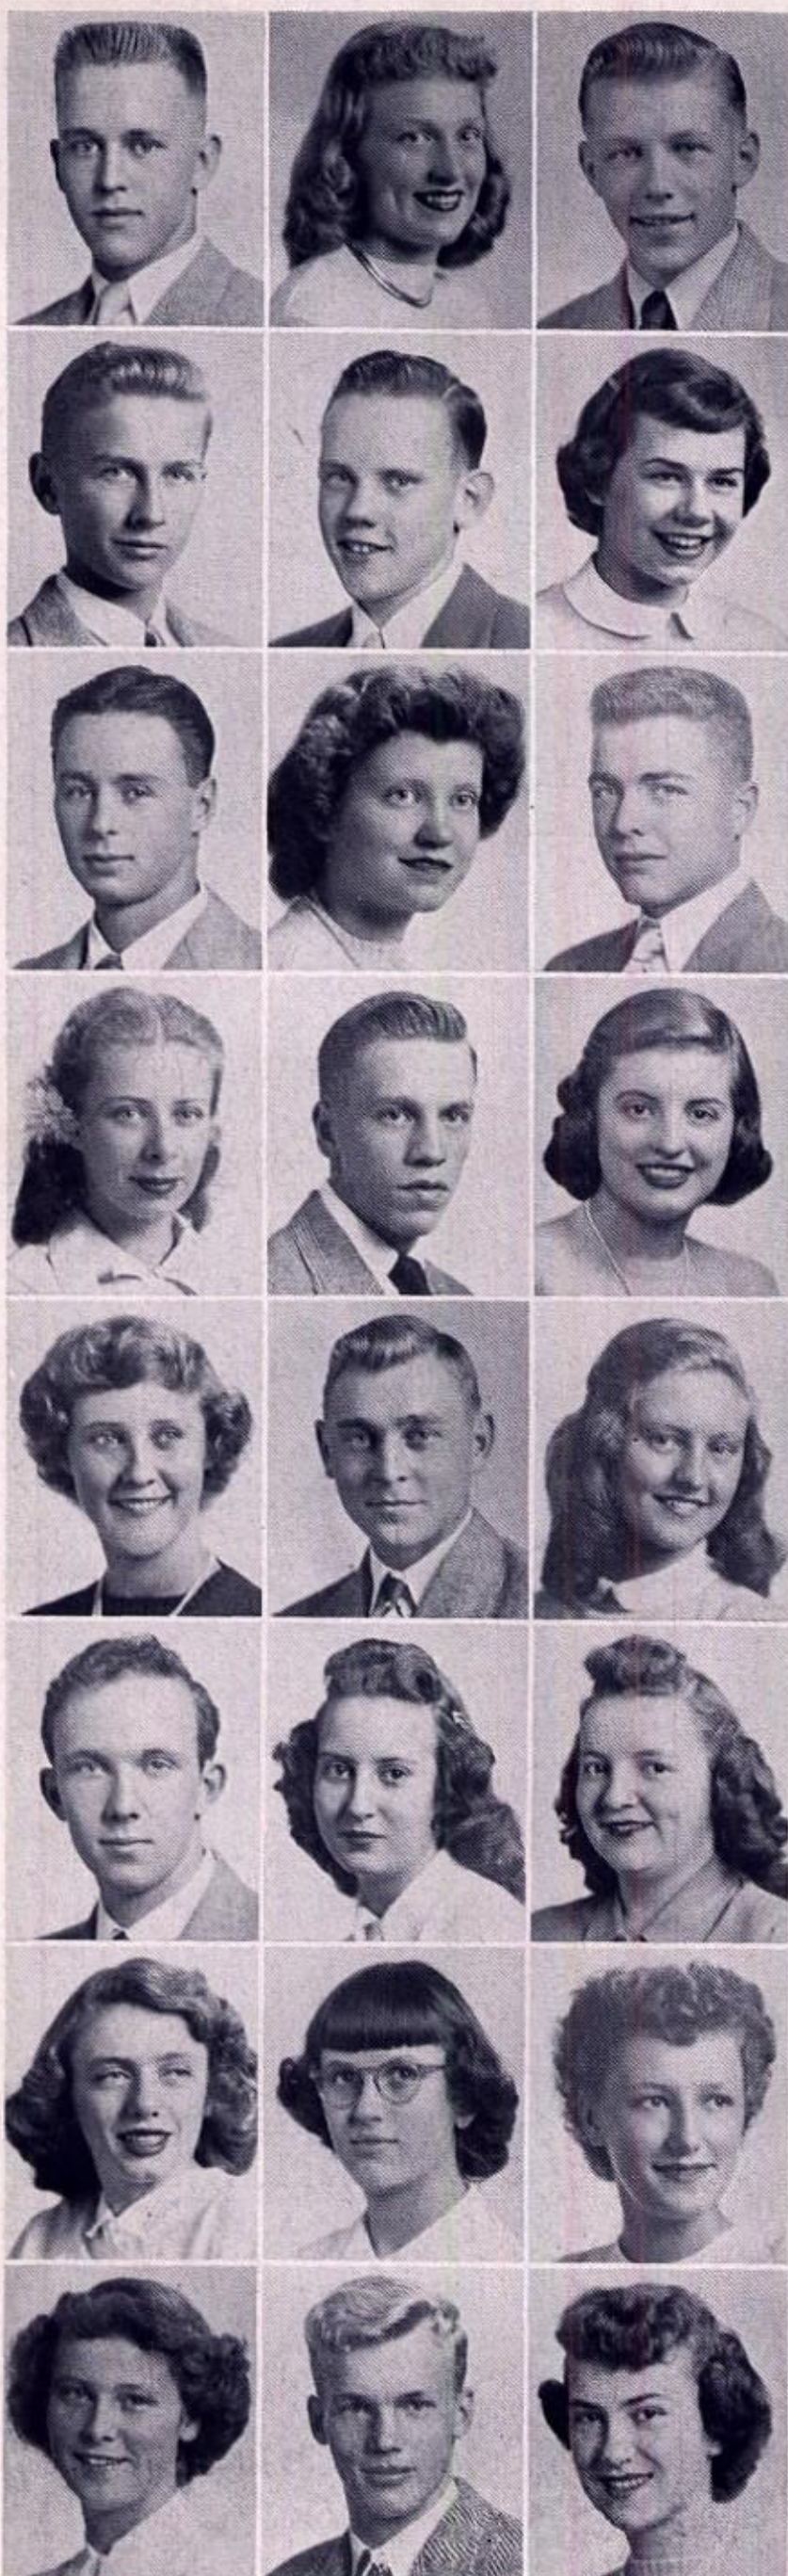

With Owen Eckblom as president, we began our senior year. In January You Can't Take It With You, the hilarious class play, was presented, and before long plans for graduation were underway.

The pleasures of the year were broken by the untimely death of one of our classmates, Louis Peter. Instead of living in the past, however, we seniors look eagerly to the future. What it may hold for us we do not know, but aided by experience and knowledge gained at Murray, we feel well able to cope with the problems that confront us as citizens in this increasingly complex society.

CLASS OF 1950

VIEWS FUTURE HORIZONS

JUNIOR BOARD—Seated: Paul Christianson; Tom Steveken, sergeant-at-arms; Kenneth Spates, president; Jack Folsom, treasurer; Peggy Fenske, secretary. Standing: Mary Atkinson, Barb Proshek, Marge Knowlan, Lenore Huwe.

Energy and ideas have seemed to be common property among the members of the junior class, for everyone has been bursting with both this past year. Under the inspiring guidance of co-advisers Miss Marie Darche and Miss Virginia Fertig a wide and fun-filled list of activities was planned.

Old clothes, old friends, and Old Man Mose were the feature attractions at the Sadie Hawkin's Dance on November 12. Given in collaboration with the Canteen Committee, this ever popular dance was our first undertaking as an organized class.

Hollywood invaded Murray on November 30, in the form of a movie titled "The Sullivans". The SRO sign was hung out days in advance.

Especially appealing to the appetites of the male population was the popcorn ball sale, December 5-8. This very successful venture put the class well on the financial road to the high spot of the year, our first Junior-Senior Prom.

May 27 is the date set for the J. S. The theme, "Blue Mist," will be carried out in an ethereal motive in the ballroom of the Leamington Hotel, Minneapolis. Les William's orchestra will furnish the music.

As our senior year draws near we look forward to the turning point of the century and of the Class of 1950.

GRID TEAM

STRESSES DEFENSIVE GAME

Lacking the offensive punch necessary for a championship eleven, the Pilots completed an eventful season on the gridiron last fall. Possessing a big, experienced line and a small backfield, the Murray men held respect as one of the best defensive teams in the conference.

Seniors Ralph DeYoung, Bob Steveken, Gordon Lindgren, Dick Swanson, and Marv Lundgren must be singled out as the stars of the season. Ralph, who was the only Pilot to be chosen for the All-City team, played practically every defensive position on the team, and he was the spearhead of the offense. From the left halfback position, Bob Steveken had a chance to show his speed and shiftiness on the team's quick-opening T-formation plays. As the Pilots' leading scorer, Marv Lundgren played in top form all season, and he was one of Coach Ralph Engebretson's most reliable ground gainers from his fullback position. Gordon Lindgren was the immovable object that stopped the irresistible force as he led the Murray line to one of the best defensive records in the conference. Acclaimed by all as one of the best "little men" in the conference, Dick Swanson proved to be one of the team's most valuable players as the defensive "spark plug" in the backfield.

In the season's opener the gridders bowed to an experienced Marshall team 8-0 in a pre-season non-conference contest.

The opening conference game saw the Pilots give way to a strong Central team by a score of 7-0. The Pilot offensive at this stage had not started to roll.

In the second conference game the gridders finally broke the Wilson jinx and defeated the Redmen by the score of 14-6. Bob Steveken and Ralph DeYoung tallied for the winners.

Looking like the championship team of the previous season, the Pilots smashed Humboldt to the tune of 27-19. Blasting along the ground for three scores and a fourth through the air, the footballers had it their own way throughout the contest. Marv Lundgren, Bob Steveken, Ralph DeYoung, and Tom Wegleitner all scored for the winners.

Playing fine defensive ball, Murray held a favored Washington team to a 0-0 tie. Both teams lacked the necessary offensive punch to carry them to "pay-dirt", but fans had their money's worth at this ball game.

Monroe defeated the Pilots in what was called by many the upset of the year. Marv Lundgren scored in the second quarter for the Pilots but the extra point was blocked. Late in the fourth quarter Monroe scored, kicked the extra point, and sewed up the 7-6 ball game.

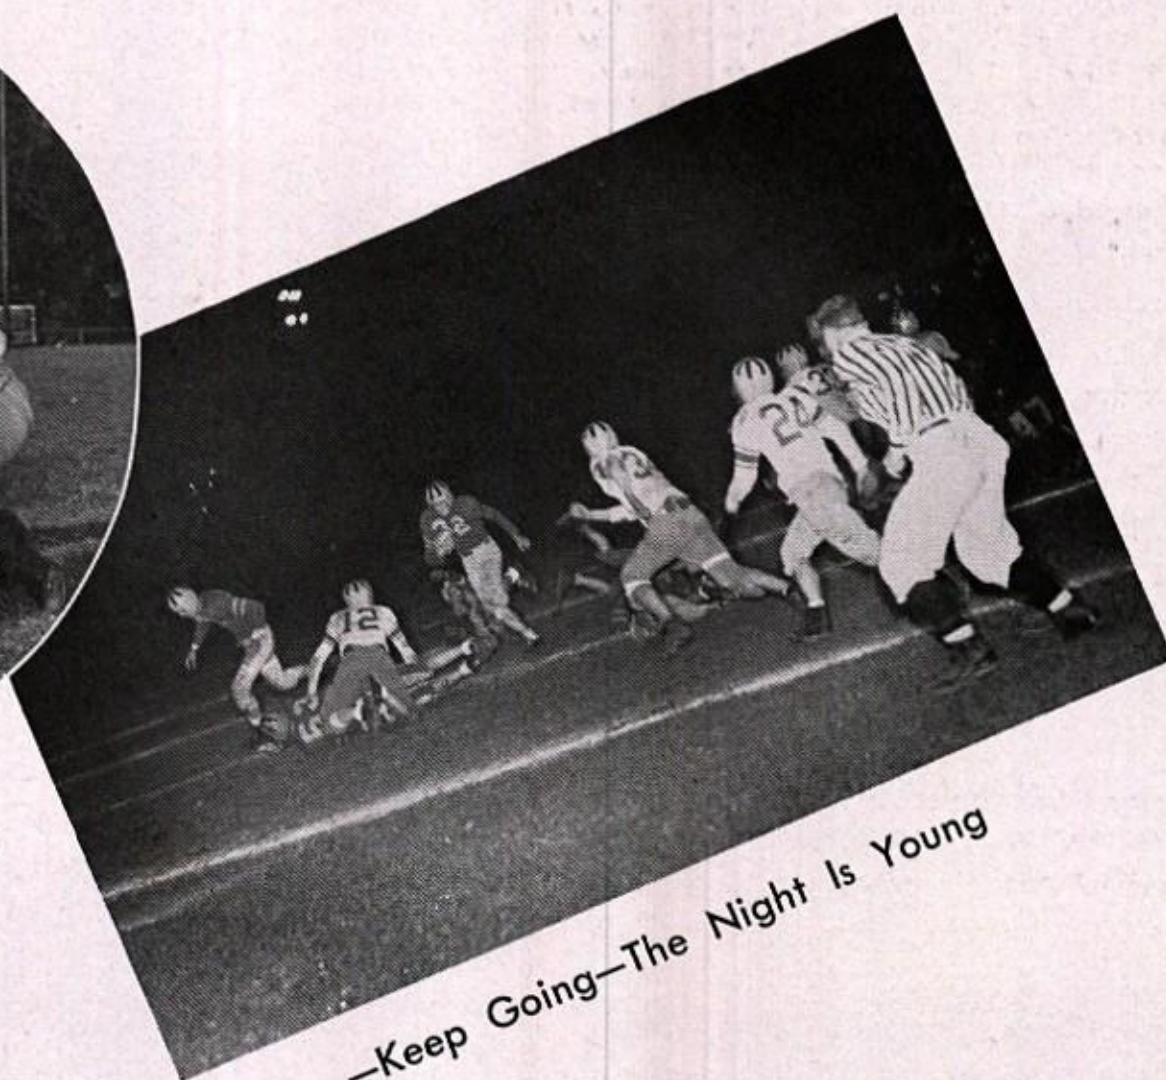

THIS IS EASY—OR IS IT?

Here is action galore in this tie game with Mechanic Arts. Bob Steveken, carrying the ball, is having a path made for him by Herb Lynch and Gordon Lindgren as the team carries out a reverse play.

Alumni Return to Old Haunts

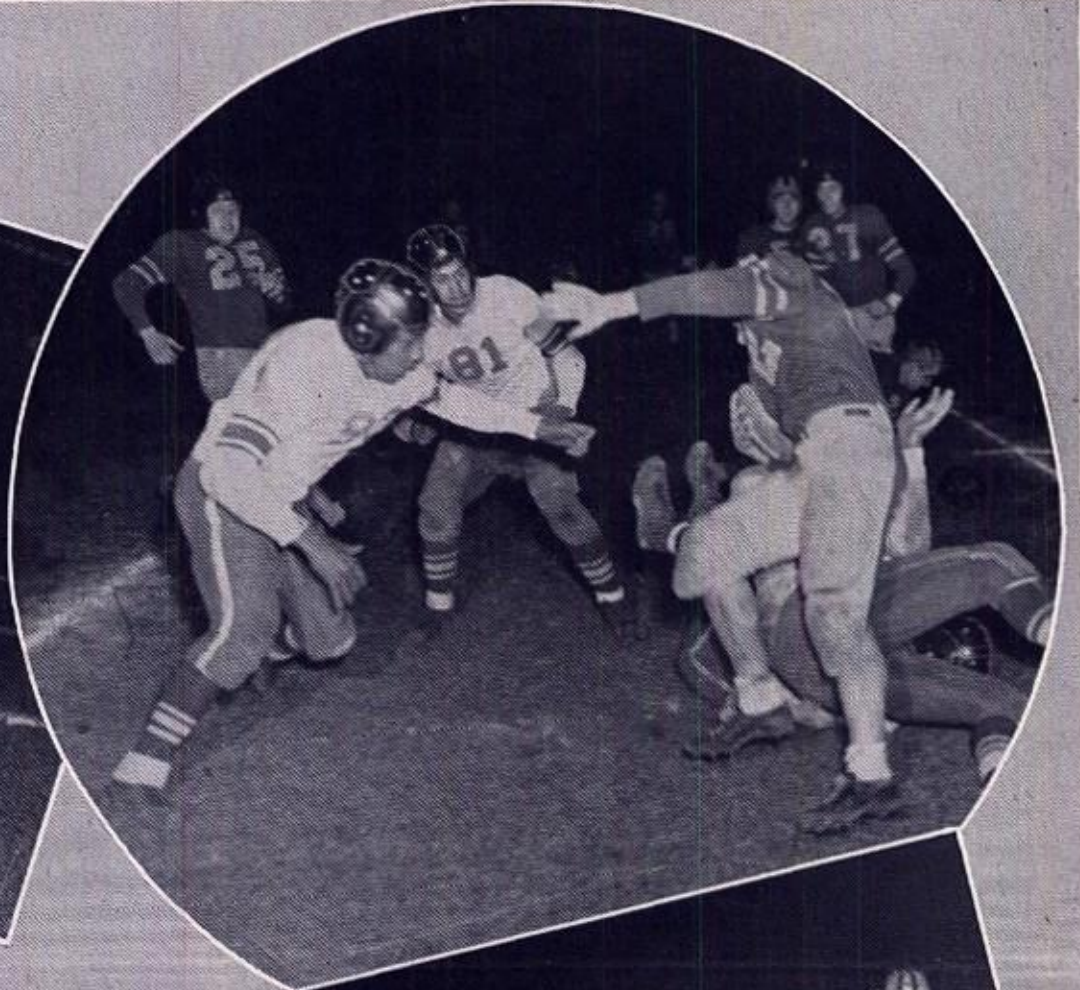

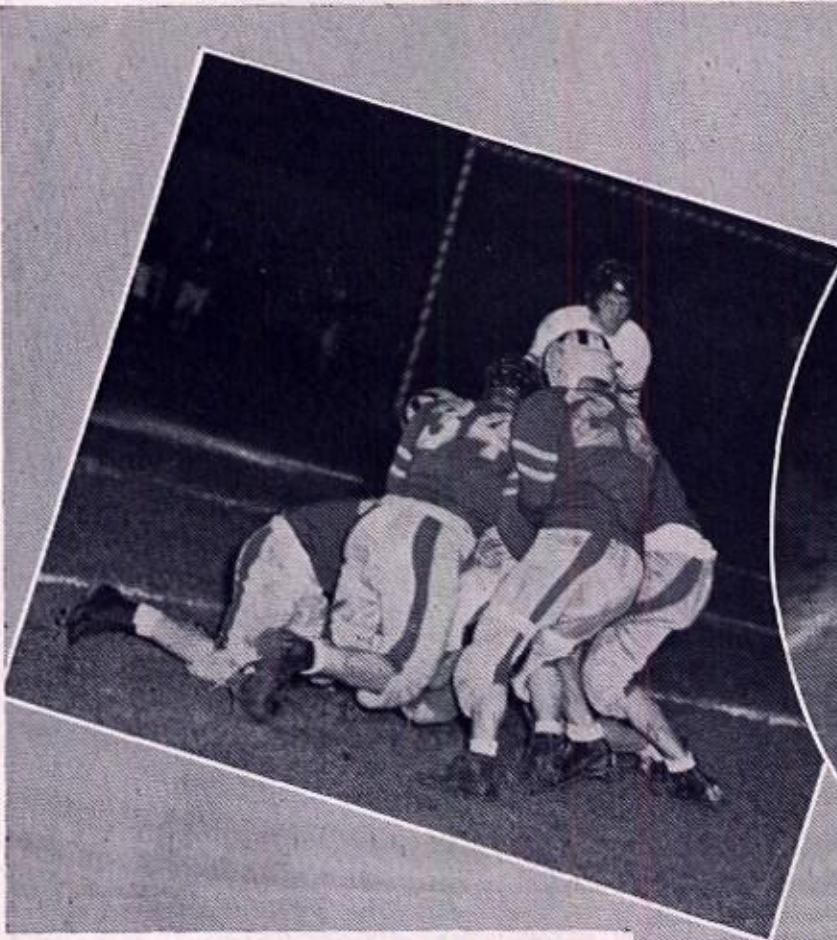

—Keep Going—The Night Is Young

Two former "M" Club members and lovers of the gridiron game returned to Murray this fall as practice teachers in phy ed. Joe Knoblauch, left, former Murray football and basketball star, and Rolf Hopkins, an ex-basketball and track man, assisted the football coaches with both squads.

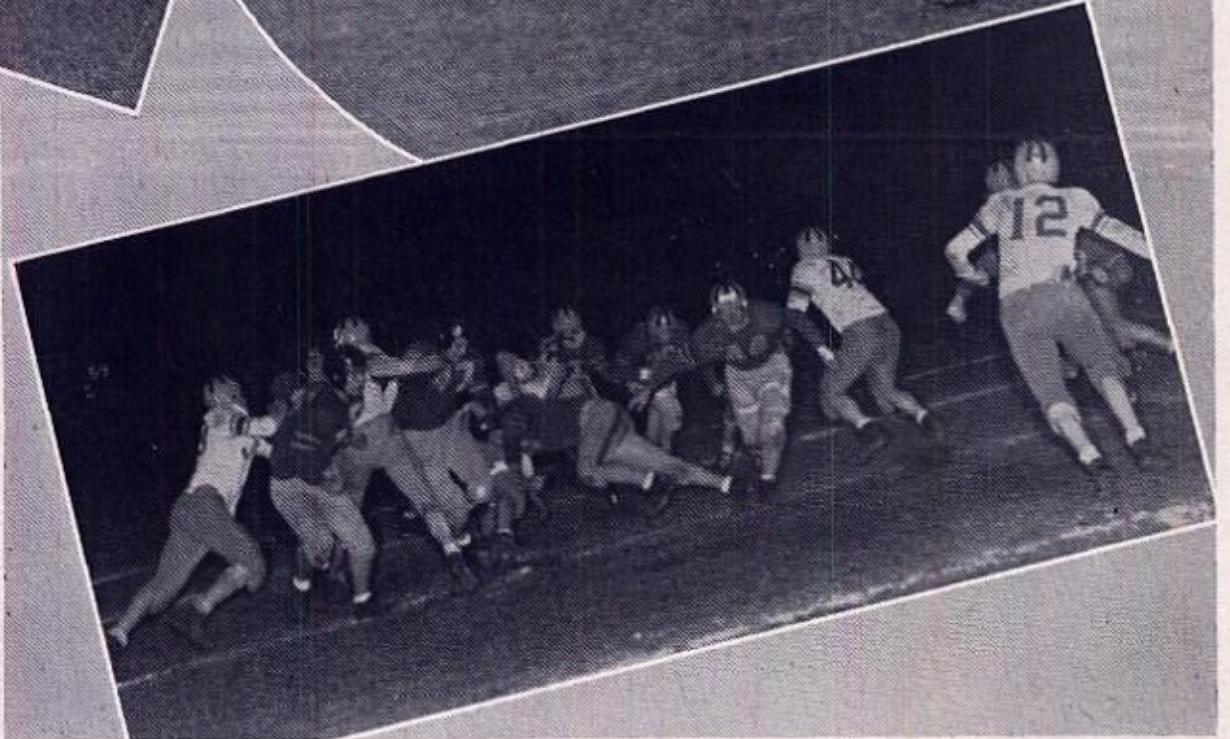

Number 32 in the person of Bob Steveken seems set to go over a few chalk lines in this fray with Washington High School. Number 53, Gordon Lindgren, is executing a roll block.

HOMECOMING FANS GET THRILLS

... Camermen were a dime a dozen at Murray's homecoming game with Mechanic Arts. The downtown school was set for a kill, but the boys out Grantham way thought differently.

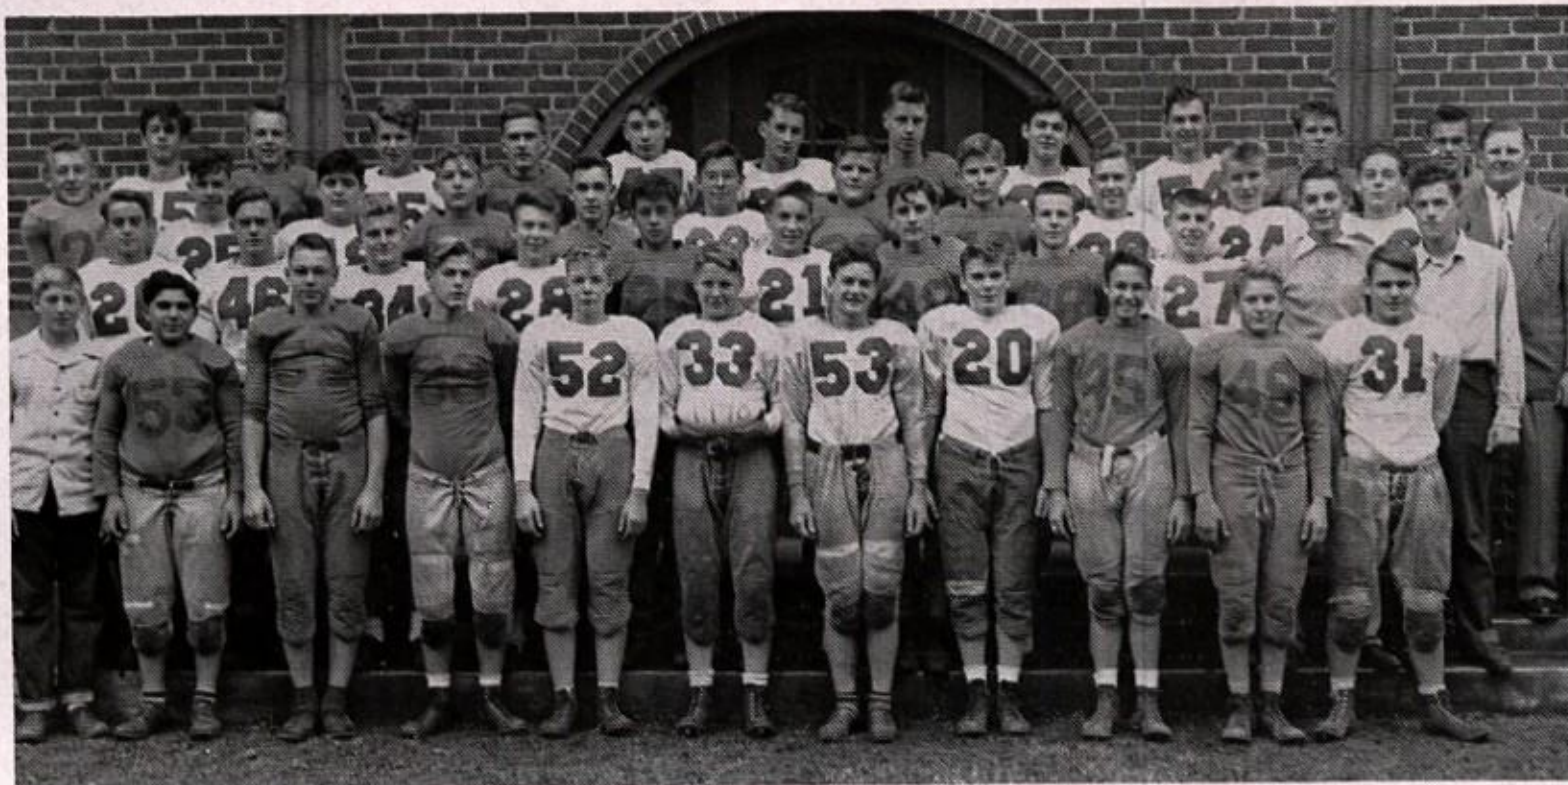

... In the upper left corner it isn't prayer time; the boys are merely trying to see who has recovered the fumble.

... Another Mechanic Arts-Murray moment that has homecoming fans rising in the stands. This time one of the Steveken boys—Bob, is all set for a good yardage gain—but something happens. Two alert Trainers have projected themselves into the opening made by Bob's teammates.

... Now here is a play that the Murray boys will remember when they see future Pilot gridiron men in action. In this tangle with Washington, the Pilots are giving the famous left five play a try. Dave Daniels is Marv Lundgren's interference on this off-tackle slant. Take note of the lively action as all Murray men follow out the play's details.

LET'S GO PLACES

The homecoming game was played with a highly rated and championship-bound Mechanic Arts eleven. The Murray crowd saw an unforgettable battle as the two teams fought for pay territory with one spectacular play following another. By "bottling up" the Trainer ground game, the Pilots fought Mechanics to a 0-0 tie.

In the final game of the season the Murray gridders really took their big defeat of the year as a strong Johnson squad rang up a 20-0 total.

While Murray relinquished its city crown when Johnson, Marshall, and Mechanic Arts ended in a triple tie for the title, the season was anything but mediocre. Senior squad members who had received experience while playing with the 1947 Champs distinguished themselves individually, and their knowledge of the game gave confidence and help to new squad members.

Ralph DeYoung is ready to go places in a big way as his determined expression shows. Nick Combs of Marshall thinks differently and happens to be right in this Marshall-Murray game.

PUCKSTERS TAKE T. C. TITLE

Flashing skates, bruising checks, and clever stick handling were the mainstays of the Pilot 1949 hockey aggregation. Led by the line of Tom Wegleitner, Jack Martin, and Bill McCluskey, the Murrayites captured the Region IV laurels, won the Twin City Championship, and gathered fourth place in the State Championship Tournament.

Murray won its first Twin City Championship when the pucksters defeated Minneapolis Washburn 2-1. Fred Swensen and Tom Wegleitner tallied for the Blue and Gold before Washburn got its lone goal with two minutes left to play.

Three Murrayites earned places on the All-City Hockey Team. Wings Jack Martin and Bill McCluskey and defense man Bill Wegleitner were the pucksters so honored. Tom Wegleitner gained recognition in the state tournament for his fine play by being chosen All-State center.

Playing the type of hockey indicative of a well-coached team, the Murrayites won the regional tourney. In the first game of the regional the Pilots defeated Johnson High 3-2. Jim Theis tallied twice for the winners. Duplicating the score of the previous evening, Murray defeated Harding. Bill Wegleitner, Jack Martin, and Kyle Peterson scored in a fine exhibition of team play and solo dashes.

PLACE FOURTH IN STATE

It turned out to be a busy night for both the Williams goalie and the referees as Pat McGuinn (8), follows in a rebound.

"Too close for comfort" is disclosed in the look of goalie Gordon Mallory as Bill Wegleitner and Pat McGuinn register the same agonized expression after a near miss in the Murray-Williams fray.

"Fireworks" really broke loose at the state tournament. Drawing Saint Louis Park in the opening round, the Murrayites won a 2-1 overtime struggle. Jack Martin and Tom Wegleitner teamed up to handle the scoring, each having a goal and an assist.

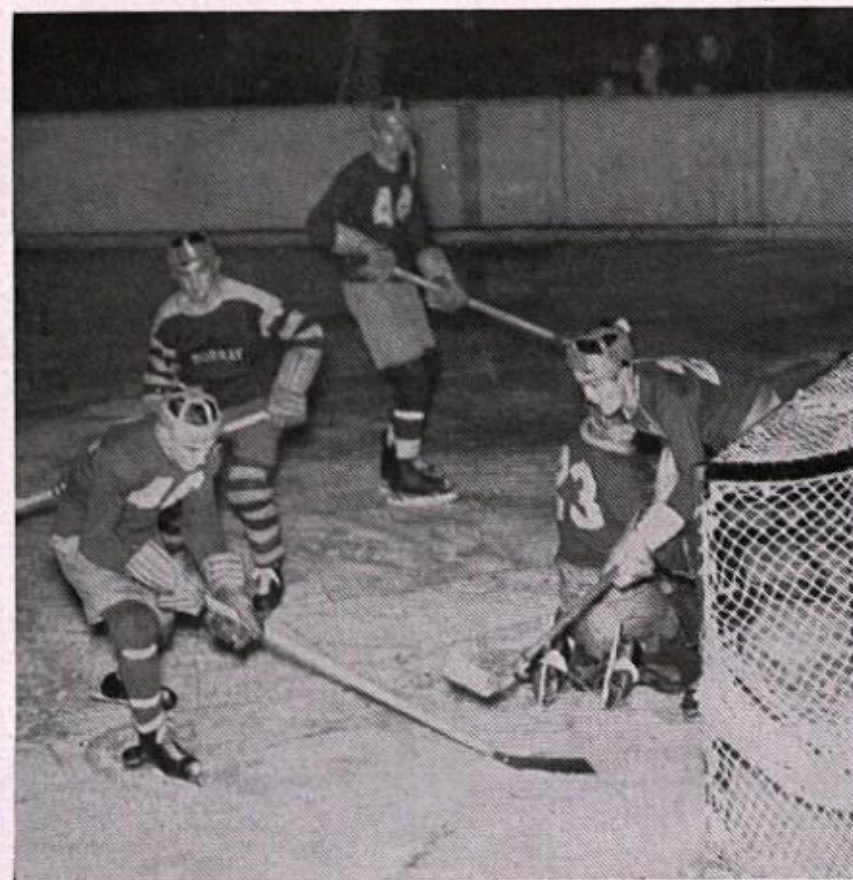

In the most dramatic, hard-fought game in the history of the tourney, the Pilots were defeated by Williams in the semi-finals after two overtimes and 2:35 of a third sudden death overtime had passed. Jim Theis was the only Pilot able to score in the first two periods, and the Murrayites fell behind 3-1 with three minutes remaining in the game. Putting on one of the finest rallies in the history of the tourney, the Murrayites knotted the score.

Fred Swensen scored at 9:55 of the third period. With a minute remaining Coach Al Sandberg pulled Goalie Gordy Mallory out of the nets, and played six forwards; the result was the tying goal by Tom Wegleitner at 11:05. A hard, long shot and an unusual one by Chester Lundsten of Williams gave the Northern team the game.

Still tired from the semi-finals, Murray gave way to a fine Warroad sextet, 7-5, in the third place championship game. Leading 2-1 at the end of the first period, the Pilots played it "hot and cold" to give Warroad a hard battle. Kyle Peterson and Tom Wegleitner scored for the losers as did Jack Martin, who got the only "hat trick" of the tournament in this game.

A loose puck in front of the Harding goal becomes the center of attention as Jack Martin vainly watches the open net.

This wild bit of action produced Murray's first goal against Harding in the Region 4 title game. Bill Wegleitner, arrow, has just scored as Pat McGuinn (2), and Jack Martin look on.

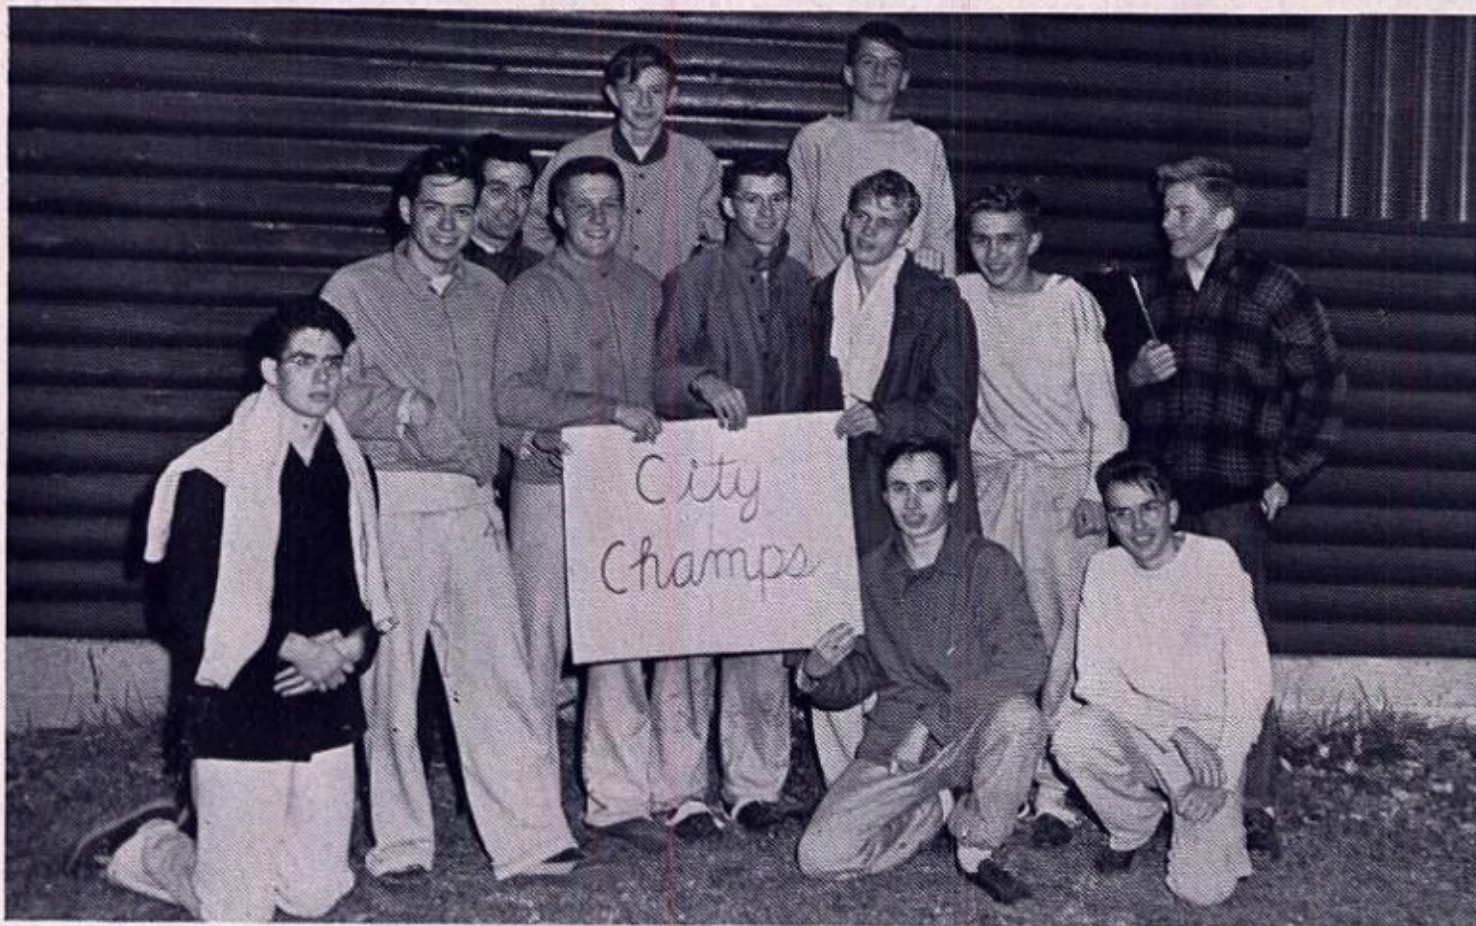

Christensen Stars

Cross country star for the past two years is Bob Christensen, who has chalked up an enviable record in this sport's annals. As the mainstay of Murray's city title team, Bob has been a constant first and second place winner.

PILOTS GARNER CROSS COUNTRY TITLE

Murray's 1948 cross country team gathered the city cross country title with the lowest team score on record and went undefeated in dual meets. Under the able tutelage of Mal Shurtleff, the thin-clads defeated Washington, Humboldt, Duluth Central, Minneapolis Southwest, and Monroe.

In the first meet of the year the cross country team defeated Washington by the perfect score of 15-48. The Pilots won the first five scoring positions.

Performing in two meets in two days, the group defeated Humboldt 21-34, and then traveled to Duluth Central the following day to trounce their foes 19-36. Bob Christensen, Charles Grose, and Gordon Tinker finished first, second, and third respectively.

Monroe was the next victim of the thin-clads as the Greenies fell before the Pilots 20-35.

The city cross country meet was a climax to a successful season as the runners set a city record with the best score ever recorded in the four year history of the city meets.

Take It Or Leave It

Ralph DeYoung, right, drops in two of his thirteen points in Washington-Pilot tilt.

Murray's erratic 1949 basketball aggregation completed the season with a nine-one record against non-conference opposition. In play against conference opposition the record was reversed.

Getting off with a good start the bucketeteers notched victories over Chaska, St. Agnes, St. Louis Park, St. Paul Park, and Breck before losing to Hastings in an exciting contest. This year the team traveled to Willmar and Benson on the annual Christmas road trip and handily defeated them. Later in the season the Pilots played SPA twice and were victorious on both occasions.

Against conference foes the Pilots were not as fortunate in the won-lost column. Gathering only one victory in ten starts, the fighting Pilots made up for their lack of size with their fighting spirit, and the Murrayites put up many a scrappy battle. The conference record was: Murray-Washington 36-43; Murray-Humboldt 32-60; Murray-Harding 34-35; Murray-Johnson 28-24; Murray-Marshall 33-44; Murray-Central 34-52; Murray-Mechanic Arts 20-38; Murray-Monroe 32-28; Murray-Wilson 38-49; Murray-Johnson 34-44. (District 15)

Seniors Chuck Grose, Bruce Anderson, and Ralph DeYoung led the Pilots throughout the season. These veterans did much to aid the seasoning of the underclassmen for next year's team.

TRACKMEN BUILD FOR '49

Let's Go

All set for the 880-yard run are Paul Testor and a Centralite in a meet with Marshall. The boys came through with the deciding points in this half-mile event. Unidentified are two Marshall runners at the extreme right and left respectively.

Entering into a building program that has developed a great deal of talent for this year's season, Murray's track teams showed fine form. The innovation of a two team system was begun with junior and senior varsity track competition tried for the first time in the Saint Paul conference history. Concentrating the ability in the junior varsity competition division, the Pilots garnered second place in the city meet. In the senior varsity city meet, Bob Christensen's first in the 880, and Frank Snidarich's fourth in the shot-put gave Murray a total of seven points and ninth place.

In the triangular competition Murray began a successful season by defeating Washington and Wilson following victories over Mechanic Arts, Harding, Washington, and then Wilson. Miler Gordon Tinker, discus man Chuck Hinzman, and George Sumner in the 100-yard dash were the mainstays of the junior varsity team. The season's record was: Murray 82½, Washington 57½, Wilson 18; Murray 64, Central 49, Marshall 48; Murray 106½, Mechanic Arts 37, Harding 13½.

In the city junior varsity meet, the Murrayites landed in second place, eleven and one-half points behind Central. Taking firsts for the Blue and Gold were George Sumner, 100-yard dash; Bob Joseph, 880-yard run; Charles Hinzman, discus; Dick Olson, high jump; and Don Harvey, who tied for first in the pole vault.

*Good Luck

First row: Eugene Brioschi, Bob Prodger, Art Kistler, Jud Harmon ★ Larry Lang, Douglas Warfield, Ray Grove, Jim Harmon, Bob Lauritzen.

Starting slowly, the Pilot tankmen improved steadily as the season progressed. Meets were held at the Central YMCA each week. The Murrayites placed fifth in the city swimming meet while individual points and honors went to Grant Warfield, who captured second in diving, and to Art Kistler, who came in fourth in the back stroke. The boys' total of sixteen points gave Murray its fifth place.

In conference meets the tankmen won five and lost four. Victories for the Pilots were notched over Humboldt, Washington, Wilson, Harding, and Mechanic Arts. Losses of the season were at the hands of Central, Johnson, Marshall, and Monroe.

Seniors, Grant Warfield, Art Kistler, Jim Harmon, and Paul Mielke were the margin of victory in many of the meets. With a good nucleus remaining for next year's team, the aquatic group will be ready for a top season.

COMO HI-Y SPONSORS INTRAMURALS

Murray's first round-robin intramural basketball league began play this year under the sponsorship of the Como Hi-Y. Fourteen weeks of play, beginning in the middle of November and culminating with a play-off the first week in March, produced exciting recreation for all. Eight teams competed for the coveted trophy which was won by the "B" Squad after a thrilling 30-29 victory in the play-off game. Entered in the league were the following eight teams: Larson's Long Shots, Como Hi-Y, Round Mouths, Globe Trotters, Band, Shafter, SAA, and "B" Squad.

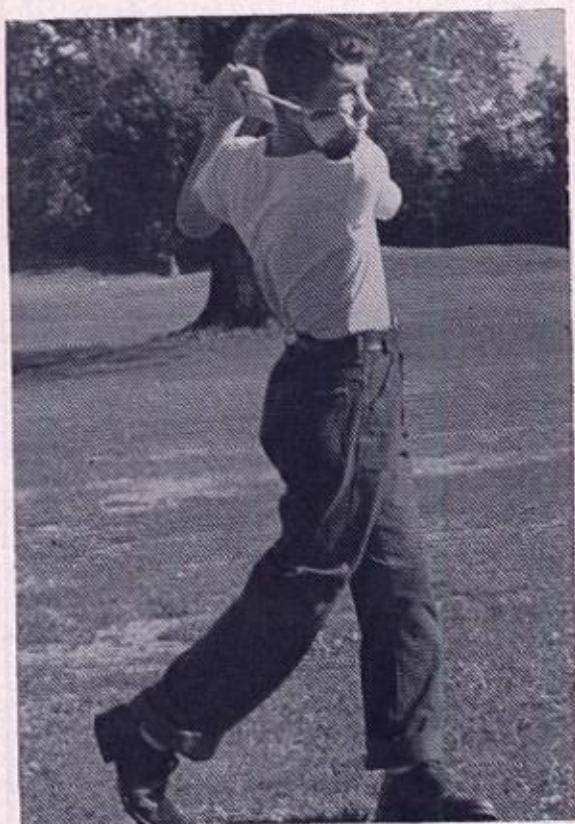

Joe Poeschl, Herb Lynch, Jerry Gillett, Don Anderson, shooting, Sure 'Nuff, Dick Zandlo, Grant Warfield, and Harry Johnson.

GOLF, TENNIS CHALK GAINS

Beard's Special

Winning six matches and losing three, the Murray linkmen finished the season in third place. This is the best showing the Pilots have made since they captured the city title in 1942.

Led by Peter Beard, the golf team began the spring with a victory over Humboldt 12½-2½, before losing to Washington 10½-4½. Coming back, the golf team defeated Marshall 15-0, Harding 9½-5½, Mechanic Arts 15-0, only to give way to the championship-bound Johnson team 11-7.

Back on their winning ways again the golfers stopped Monroe 11-7, Wilson 12-3, and closed the season on the short end of an 8-7 match with Central. Peter Beard and Joel Poeschl represented Murray in the city golf meet.

Murray's tennis team, paced by Al Nelson and Charles Grose, completed the 1948 tennis schedule with a record of three wins in five conference matches.

The courtmen dropped non-conference matches to Minneapolis Roosevelt 5-1 and Breck 3-1 with Al Nelson the only Pilot to score a point.

Rounding into shape for the first conference match, the clay-court Pilots defeated Johnson 3-2. Murray then topped Harding 4-1 before losing to the eventual city champions, Humboldt, 2-3.

Playing their finest game of the year, the tennis team defeated Mechanic Arts 5-0 as the Trainers won but a single game. In the city singles tournament Murray was represented in the finals by Al Nelson, who won the first set 6-3, but lost the next two 3-6 and 4-6.

BASEBALL MAKES HISTORY

Under the direction of Mr. George Bergup, the star-studded Pilot diamond nine of 1948 finished the season with the best record in the school's history. Led by the superb pitching of Tom Zwiener and the fine "clutch" hitting of Ralph DeYoung, the Murrayites landed in a second place tie with Johnson at the season's end.

Opening the conference, the Pilots blasted Marshall 6-1 and continued on their winning ways in defeating Central 3-1 to make it two in a row.

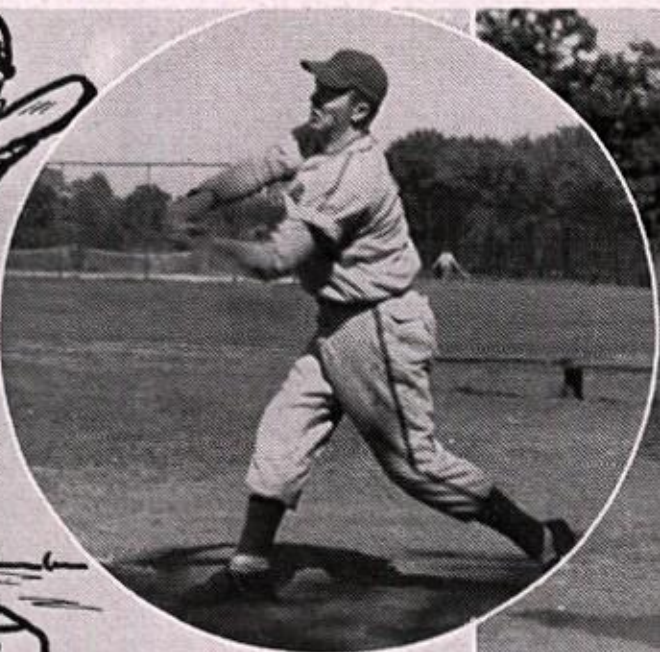

Here is Sure 'Nuff horning in on the baseball notables. He seems to be wondering if he can emulate Ronald "Red" Nelson in a batting practice.

Washington spelled the season's first defeat for the Murray men as they shut out the Pilots 2-0 in an extra inning pitcher's duel.

Murray then defeated Harding 7-1 and lost to Wilson 4-3 before trouncing Humboldt 8-4.

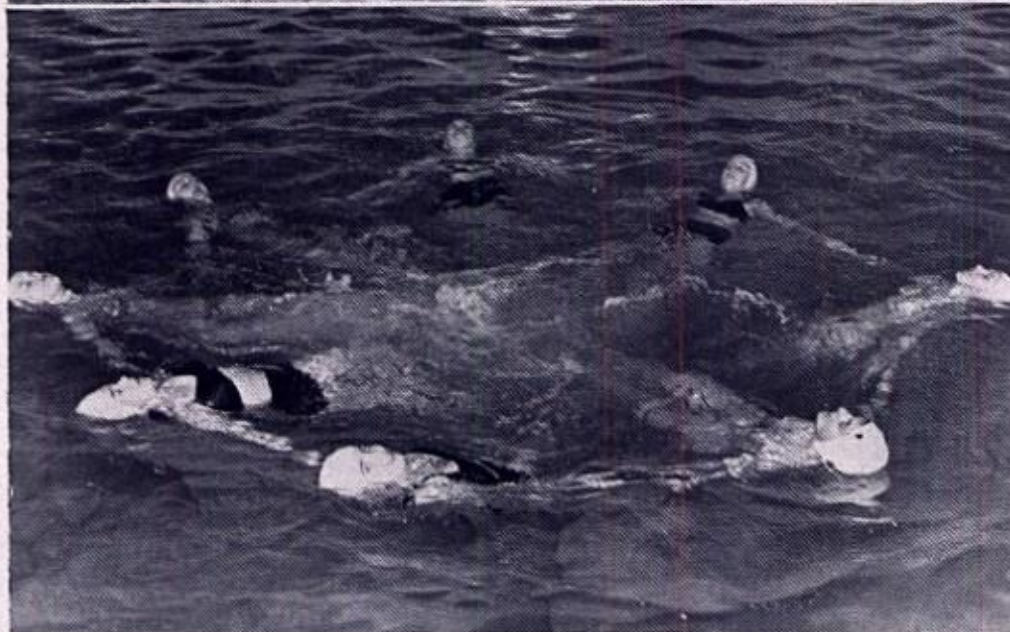

Going hitless, the Pilots were defeated by Monroe 8-0. Ending the conference season in a fine manner, the Pilots defeated Johnson 7-0 and Mechanic Arts 5-3. In the play-offs Murray was defeated by Washington 7-4.

Jim Lovdahl really slides for home in this "camera doesn't lie" take. Umpire Marty is watching critically.

G. A. A. SETS SIGHTS IN '49

Be it baseball, swimming, or soccer, relaxation of muscles is a must for success in sports. Delores Massie and Trudy Gerlach are in earnest about this game.

The members of G.A.A., directed by Mrs. Inez Gugisberg, would not trade places with the pioneer girl of '49 whose exercise was necessary toil without proper relaxation. Here in G.A.A., high school girls have the opportunity to embrace one or more of several types of sports activities. In the fall soccer was a popular game with many, although horseback riding was chosen by several members.

The winter program of basketball, swimming, bowling, and tumbling kept the majority of the girls in trim during the "dark" season. At the same time seniors and juniors eyed their ever-increasing points necessary towards the coveted all-city letter. Spring brought a lively interest in tennis and baseball as well as in riding.

The G.A.A. displayed talent in other ways as they sponsored social activities. The homecoming button sale and the dance began the social side of the year as the girls joined with the "M" Club in this school-wide undertaking.

Coming up next Thursday, May nineteenth is the annual G.A.A. and "M" Club banquet at which time letter winners will be honored and new officers announced.

WIN OR LOSE — BOYS EARN LETTERS

Have you ever seen a girl gleefully eyeing one of Murray's athletes? Surely she sees something that interests her. Is it the boy with his blond, curly hair or his broad shoulders? Nine times out of ten it is not the sports hero but his precious sweater that she has in mind. This is only one of the problems encountered by members of the "M" Club during the year—who shall wear the sweater?

The organization is composed of athletes who have proven their worth in various sports and among whose members are many of the athletic stars of tomorrow.

While the coveted letter is admired by the feminine population, only the owners know the hours of effort and toil that go into the earning of the attractive "M."

This year the "M" Club joined with the G.A.A. in sponsoring the homecoming dance and assembly. This event, traditional at Murray, is one that active "M"

Club members plan for, as the old grads return to see how the new crop of lettermen carry out the "M" Club's aims and ideals.

President Ralph DeYoung planned with a committee for a social event in mid-winter, an old-fashioned sleigh-ride. However, Minnesota decided to have Florida weather at that time and the event was canceled.

In May two events of importance are on the calendar. A letter assembly will be top billing at which time all boys who have earned letters this year will be given awards. A second event is that of the induction of the senior members into the Murray Alumni "M" Club, an active organization of former letter men.

STUDENT COUNCIL

RECEIVES NATIONAL

RECOGNITION IN '49

This gala affair is enjoyed each year by both the old and new board members. Here seated, from left to right, are Bob Christensen, Lindsay Christlieb, Joyce Tyson, Barbara Proshek, Dagmar Wagner, Louise Weigt, Charles Grose, Mrs. Ruth Eddy, Joyce Christesen, Pat Carlson, David Briggs, August Haugan, Ken Larson, Pat MacDonald, Barbara Bjornstad, Diane Grove, and Eleanor Tyson.

The outlook which the school of today holds on school discipline is entirely different from the principles of a century ago. The rule and hickory stick, the stool and dunce cap have been replaced by student interest in management. Student Council has taken on new significance this year. For the first time at Murray, student participation played a major role in the school's government. Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Eddy, adviser, and Charles Grose, president, an experiment in student government was undertaken. Study halls were efficiently managed by the pupils, lunchrooms were made pleasant by juke-box music every Friday, and an entertaining assembly schedule was planned.

The first two duties which this organization performs every year are the formulation of the activities' calendar and the assignment of seats for auditorium programs. Through the March of Dimes, the Community Chest, and the Christmas Seals, Murray students contribute to the welfare of the community. The Council handles these drives through assemblies and homeroom collections.

This year presented another "first" for the Murray Student Council as it was admitted to the National Federation of Student Councils, from which it has received a charter. Delegates assisted in the formation of a constitution at the first annual state Student Council meeting. The Murray group was elected vice president of its district.

All this activity has met with great interest on the part of the pupils. The newly elected Student Council officers are looking forward to more student participation in the year to come.

*Best wishes
R. Eddy*

President Charles Grose has endeavored this year to make homeroom representatives, as well as board members, conscious of the need of selling student self-government to everyone. In this he has succeeded to an extent that the entire group and its adviser, Mrs. Ruth Eddy, can be proud of the Student Council leading the way toward unifying school principles.

During the state convention of Student Councils, Murray's members housed out-of-town delegates as their guests. Meeting others engaged in similar school activities was both profitable and enjoyable. Hats off to Murray's Student Council of '49!

All is lost? Do not give up so easily. Operated with precision-like efficiency is the Lost and Found. This year the Student Council moved the Lost and Found to the ticket window. Here daily S. C. members are on duty giving service to fellow classmates.

Operating the window at this moment is Delores Rosenquist. A grateful individual is Raymond Lotz as he gets his lost pen. Waiting to ask, "Did you find a blue wool scarf?" is Mary Ann Gruber.

Everyone in the nation is familiar with Christmas Seals, and Murray students look forward each year to see what the new design may be. That probably accounts for the excellent contribution made by school members as the Student Council conducted the drive.

While representatives did the selling during homeroom periods, S. C. members who were responsible for the organization of the drive were David Briggs and Carolyn Acton.

IT'S MUSIC TO MURRAY'S BAND

No snappy marching unit! How dreadful! Of course, the school of 1849 did not have much use for a band. Neither did it miss having a band playing at assemblies because it had no auditorium. And neither did a band perform on skates!

Today, the band, often taken for granted, is very essential to school life. Parading in many civic, as well as school affairs, the Murray musicians have become a well-coordinated marching unit.

This year the band surely made history when its director, Mr. Alex Heron, dreamed up the idea of a band on skates for the State Hockey Tournament in February. With only a few preliminary practices on ice, the band became famous for its entertainment between the games at the St. Paul Auditorium. Forming the school "M", and making large circles, the band made a colorful setting for figure skaters, Pam Haas and Shirley Swensen, as the girls gave solo exhibitions for the hockey crowds.

Earlier in the year, Mr. Heron and his ragtimers "laid them in the aisles" as the group played for many pep assemblies.

One of the band's never-to-be-forgotten performances was given at a variety show which they sponsored this spring in conjunction with an Elk's group. Many hours of puffing and pounding were consumed in preparation for this unusual presentation.

Boarding a chartered bus, the band members traveled to St. Cloud, Minnesota, January 23, where they presented a concert at the Veterans' Hospital. A return engagement is planned for July 3.

The month of March featured two concerts given by the combined Murray High and Columbia Heights High School bands. The first was performed at Murray and the second at Columbia Heights.

Everyone awaits the yearly Spring Concert when letters are given to outstanding senior members. This year proved no exception, and the tricky arrangements and wide variety of numbers gave friends a pleasant memory of Murray's band.

Although Murray's award-snatching outfit has appeared very impressive in its blue and white uniforms, the members are looking forward to next fall when dark trousers, and new hats bedecked with plumes will be added to give the band the "New Look".

During the year the band found many other opportunities to be of service and to "strut its stuff". It marched with the Mechanic Arts High School band at the Twin-City football game.

Always performing in fine traditional manner and always receptive to new ideas in the whirl of busy today, the band enjoyed a pleasant, date-packed year. Besides group participation, individual entries were placed in various competitive contests, ranging from outside sponsors to district and state events. Indeed the schools of yesterday missed much in the field of musical expression and broadening interests as is attested by Murray's enterprising band of today, with its inspiring director—Mr. Alex Heron.

In Minnesota fall mornings are either bright and crisp or damp and foggy; in winter darkness is still abroad when the schoolhouse doors swing open.

Regardless of weather conditions, the school's orchestra members meet the day as "the dawn patrol". While others are making a last-minute rush before the bell, the faithful musicians have accomplished an hour's practice. Several members also belong to the band.

Crowning work of the year was the orchestra's performance at the "A" Choir's presentation of the operetta, Chimes of Normandy, in April.

Under the direction of Mr. Alex Heron the orchestra is building for the future as several of its members are in the junior high school group.

IS IT GIRLS' LEAGUE DAY?

A familiar question is the above as every Murray girl is a member of this excellent organization. Here seated are Miss Catherine Daly, adviser; with Mary Atkinson, vice president; and Joan Proshek, president. Standing are program chairman, Shirley Swensen; treasurer, Audrey Grove; secretary, Margie Johnsen.

Going Skating?

If you are, here is Miss Audrey Heinz of the Simplicity Pattern Company explaining the advantageous points of the skating costume modeled by Ann Rohleder. Catherine Zandlo is shown wearing a well-tailored winter outfit.

In the "good old golden-rule days" there was no opportunity for great-grandmother to strut across a stage displaying the stiff, brocaded gown she had just completed. In addition to having no style shows, yesterday's school was without home economics classes, and girls had to depend upon their mothers' experience and instruction.

Today, girls have an opportunity to follow the latest fashions. Two style shows were presented by the Girls' League in cooperation with the Simplicity Pattern Company. Members of Mrs. Leona Hanson's sewing classes were the models. Under the guidance of Miss Catherine Daly, the Girls' League sponsored a wide variety of programs, the first of which was a talent show featuring this year's new members. Its birthday in February was celebrated with a party and an honest-to-goodness birthday cake.

Of course, funds are necessary for activities and excellent programs, and the girls worked hard on their chief money-raising project, the Caramel Apple Sale. The result of this effort was a mother-daughter party for the senior girls.

The organization, realizing the need of a set of china for the school's use, began the collection of pennies, dimes, and nickels for this project. After each meeting members were asked to slip a few cents into collection boxes at the door. Joan Proshek, president, feels that it has been a pleasant and satisfactory year for Girls' League.

CLASS PLAY IS SMASH HIT

"Look out for that firecracker!" "Gee, are those snakes real?" "Here, kitty, kitty, kitty!" All were familiar statements during the rehearsal period of the Senior Class Play, You Can't Take It With You. A double cast was trained under the direction of Miss Florence Vest, and for weeks Murray's auditorium resounded with firework explosions, xylophone notes, and typewriter keys, together with a background of toe dancing and the banging of a printing press.

Chuck Whitehead and Harold Helgeson had fun mastering the art of pipe smoking while Don Kosel and Chuck Michaelson studied extra hours on the xylophone. Groucho and Harpo, two small black and white kittens, received as much attention from the students during rehearsal as from the audience the nights of the performances.

You Can't Take It With You is the story of one family who believed in doing whatever each enjoyed most. Everyone was happy pursuing his own interests until Alice, the only really sane member of the household, fell in love with Tony, the son of a Wall Street financier. Tony's parents arrived unexpectedly at the Sycamore's house only to be arrested by police and thrown in jail. For awhile it seemed as though things would never turn out right for Tony and Alice, but Grandpa stepped in at this point and made Tony's father realize money and Wall Street were not his real sources of happiness. The play ended on a happy note with both actors and audience feeling the charm of Grandpa's philosophy.

STORY OF BOOKS IS

"Have you a thrilling mystery book?" "Can you get me some samples of architecture from the Renaissance Period?" "Where can I find the life history of the grasshopper?" These queries, asked of Library Club staff members, illustrate the varying interests of students who daily use the school's modern library.

Established in 1926 by Miss Marion Gratz, the small library with its first pioneering staff, forerunners of today's L. C.'ers, has grown rapidly until it now boasts one of the finest collections of its kind. The active Library Club has sixty members, who make it their duty to help library patrons with anything from circulating books to finding the last season's record of the Boston Red Sox. Here at Murray, L. C. has become a recognized synonym for "service".

The Library Club is composed of a ready band of go-getters, who have two aims in common, service and fun. During Book Week an assembly and a tea lent themselves to the festive "Mardi Gras" theme. In the meantime high-pressure L. C. salesmen made the rounds selling Christmas cards for the only money-making project. Outstanding displays pertaining to the school calendar were arranged for the exhibit case and bulletin boards by the publicity committee. The annual initiation provided an opportunity for new members to become acquainted with the "old timers". Library Club auxiliary lessons began with zest in January, and before long the traditional banquet, where pins are presented to seniors who have fulfilled the requirements, closed the organization's roster of social activities.

A special committee was organized to collect material relating to Minnesota's Territorial Centennial. A pioneer was the Library Club back in the good old days of Murray's "youth". Its remarkable growth bears witness to the fact that from small, insignificant beginnings often come the finest things.

MURRAY'S MESSENGER—THE MURCURIE

Grey hairs should surely adorn the head of Robert Joseph by the end of the year. As business manager of the Murcurie he has directed a thrifty group of penny-pinchers whose problem it was to finance the paper and make ends meet. Not the least of these worries was to keep the editors from planning expensive lay-outs.

Among the schemes to keep "The Murk" out of the red were the sale of plastic book covers and the popular "singing telegrams" service. In the latter the Murcurie is greatly indebted to choir members and Mrs. Helen McGeever, music instructor.

Circulation managers found work simplified this year by Bob Joseph's post office system of distribution. It was indeed a busy year for the Murcurie business staff and its adviser, Miss Elsea Peterson.

Indispensable to the publications department are the three secretaries—Patricia MacDonald, Donna Pederson, and Mary Ellen Hoaglund. Ever ready to take either a letter or a batch of copy, the girls have been busy near deadline time.

When the hours went by too quickly, other members of Miss Valborg Helseth's advanced class were ready and willing to see that everything was in order at the proper time.

Deadlines followed by deadpans the following day are all too common in the business of the Murcurie editorial staff. Each issue finds editors, reporters, and aspiring journalists dashing about gathering leads, scoops, and all the news that is fit to print. At times all of this becomes very confusing and sometimes amusing.

Mary Sue Krebs and Mary Louise Markley headed an able staff that won an All-American rating for their paper this year. The staff's sports editor, Bing Thompson, had a writer's field day when he covered the state hockey tournament and watched Murray's team strive to bring home the title while adviser, Miss Margaret Glenn, cheered from the sidelines.

Shirley Swensen, co-news editor, traveled to Red Wing to see Mr. William Carey, exchange teacher from England, adviser of the Red Wing Chieftain. Other members visited elementary schools, interviewed the great and near great in St. Paul, and did publicity for all departments who desired the services of the Fourth Estate.

YESTERDAY'S PLANS—TODAY'S PILOT

Everywhere Murray's PILOT staff turned this year they came face to face with their theme. Posters, newspapers, radio programs—the whole state seemed bent on making the Minnesota Territorial Centennial something to remember. By August 1948, the opening section plans for the book had been completed.

Art editor, Kyle Peterson, was highly esteemed around the PILOT office after his creation, Sure 'Nuff, was unanimously approved. Eileen Gavin, senior editor, and Joan Manson, assistant, had everyone beat as far as efficiency and speed were concerned. Editors, Sue Preus and Georgia Cook, along with Joyce Christensen, feature editor, were busy making big plans for Prom and homecoming layouts, while, above the usual din, business managers, Roger Wood and Paul Mielke, tore their hair and implored everyone to—"Watch the budget, watch the budget!"

Serving as an advertising team for both publications are Lorraine Picha, Joan Proshek, and Harold Basquin, who is talking to Miss Margaret Glenn, adviser, and Barbara Geddes.

EVERY STUDENT IS A MEMBER

An organization that carries a program of service, both national and local, is Murray's Junior Red Cross Chapter.

Under the direction of Mrs. Agnes Smith, the students have added another record of outstanding service. During the fall all rooms participated in filling boxes for distribution overseas. Chapter board members had the responsibility of checking and packing.

At holiday time the Red Cross officers found hours somewhere, and they helped to decorate the Veteran's Hospital for Christmas.

With the slogan that "Every Student Is a Member" as its motto the Murray group launched its annual drive March 14. Preceded by a program for the entire school, the representatives and board members asked for generous contributions and received them.

This year the school was represented in the St. Paul Red Cross Council by Beverly Bailey who held the office of second vice president. Beverly attended a national meeting of the organization during the past summer in San Francisco.

The Murray Chapter selected a memorial for the school library to Louis Peter, one of the Red Cross board members, who died during the year.

Soap Is Needed

Filling boxes is part of the Red Cross Chapter's fall work. Rae Marie Vasterling wonders whether or not to add another cake of soap to the box that Joel Poschel is holding—if it can hold much more. The L. C. exhibit case shows a collection of materials in the average oversea's box.

SCRIBES ARE WORLD-MINDED

Quill and Scroll

Boasting one of the largest memberships in the history of the Stephen Vincent Benét Chapter of Quill and Scroll, this year's group has scattered its talents in many ways.

While the majority of the twenty-two members are connected with the school's publications, many find time for participation in other activities.

Quill and Scroll is primarily an honorary organization for individuals who have given service in the journalism department or who have excelled in creative writing.

This year the group headed by Mary Sue Krebs, president, decided to go world minded and help Murray support an Austrian child. In order to do this the group gave up financing the yearly creative writing contest.

Two initiations, one in the fall and the other in May, gave members an opportunity to get together and enjoy life away from "ems" and "picas". An addition to Quill and Scroll this year was the purchase by the club of a seven branch candelabrum for initiations. The group also worked on a revision of the journalism files.

YESTERDAY A DREAM

Traditional Christmas songs and carols were presented by the choir and soloists at an assembly and evening performance of the annual candlelight program. For the first time in Murray's history, the majestic strains of Handel's great "Hallelujah Chorus" echoed through the auditorium.

This and the singing of carols in the halls were the choir's inspiring contribution to the spirit of Christmas, which was enlarged by a special trip which the carolers made to Ancker Hospital.

Talent was discovered among the junior class members of the "A" Choir during tryouts for the 1948 operetta, H. M. S. Pinafore, and a number played leading roles in the production. The third operetta by Gilbert and Sullivan to be presented at Murray, Pinafore is the story of a lowly sailor in love with the captain's daughter who must choose between him and her high social rank. The situation is reversed, however, when a nursemaid of the captain and sailor admits that she confused the two as children.

TODAY A CULTURAL JOY

Indispensable to Murray High School is its eighty-voice choir. Its well-trained members offer a marked contrast to the singing school of Minnesota's territorial days.

Saint Paul from its early history has always been associated with cultural achievements, and in that respect Murray's choir has added to the advancement of music in giving both participants and listeners an opportunity to appreciate the best in music. This year the choir, directed by Mrs. Helen McGeever, has contributed an outstanding year's work to Murray's history. Early in the fall choir members chose Paul Richardson as their president, Joan Piper as vice president, Suzanne Preus as secretary, and Donald Harvey as treasurer.

The busy schedule for 1948-49 began apprehensively with the procedure of testing voices which was repeated as a demonstration lesson for Dr. Winslow's class in music education from the University of Minnesota. After members had been placed in their respective sections, the choir was ready to begin rehearsing for assembly programs. At a meeting of the M. E. A., four members from each of the eight sections were selected to sing in the All-State Chorus led by Don Craig, one of Fred Waring's choral directors. These numbers were repeated for an assembly at which Charles Grose, an active "A" Choir student, directed, and for a P. T. A. meeting at which time Miss Mathilda Heck acted as guest conductor.

A date of significance to the choir and to every Murrayite with romantic inclinations is February 14, Valentine's Day. Singing telegrams, sponsored by the Murcurie, were sung by groups of two and three choir members acting as cupid's messengers.

A great deal of excitement accompanied the big question of the year—what operetta was to be given? The Chimes of Normandy or The Bells of Corneville was scarcely selected when a new problem arose. Try-outs for leads uncovered a great deal of talent, which made choosing the large cast extremely difficult. After extensive tryouts and keen competition the parts were double and triple cast. Hours of practice during and after school to perfect solos and choruses, rehearse the orchestra, and prepare pre-views resulted in two performances given in April when the choir successfully and ably presented the finished operetta. In spite of the hard work necessary, the cast found time to have fun and to laugh at their problems.

Still the year's program for the choir was not over. As in previous years following the operetta, the choir directed its energy to more practicing so that members might honor the Class of 1949 at baccalaureate and commencement.

Other music students augment the "A" Choir with programs in and outside of school. The Harvest, a cantata, was given by members of the "B" Choir, who rehearsed numbers to be sung by the "A" Choir in addition to their own in case extra voices were needed. For the Christmas program of Girls' League, the Girls' Glee Club presented a group of songs and carols with soloists.

The Girls' Sextette and the Boys' Quartet or Melody Four are two musical groups that have become well-known outside of school as well as to the students for their excellent singing and lively programs.

HOMECOMING HOURS RETURN

Homecoming has become a traditional event at Murray as each year a senior girl is chosen to be queen of the festivities. Bright fall days and the sharp October air gave a fitting atmosphere to the early dawn excursions to hang posters and to after-school campaigning.

Early in the week signs, posters, ribbons, and other publicity ideas kept the student body informed about the five queen candidates. The girls chosen smiled willingly as their worried managers did last minute ground-work.

The crowning of the queen is always a beautiful and thrilling moment—made more so this year when the queen of St. Paul's Winter Carnival crowned Phyllis Johnson as Murray's 1948 homecoming queen. (circle inset above)

There is always time for a social moment or two, and the photographer was on hand to take the above pictures following a breakfast party at Shirley Swensen's house.

TO VIE WITH PROM MEMORIES

Far from the homespun atmosphere of a spelling match or a square dance is the glamour connected with the high school prom. No doubt many a pioneer girl would look enviously at the modern miss in her long evening dress while many a rugged frontier boy would cast a dubious glance at the white dinner jackets worn by the boys of today.

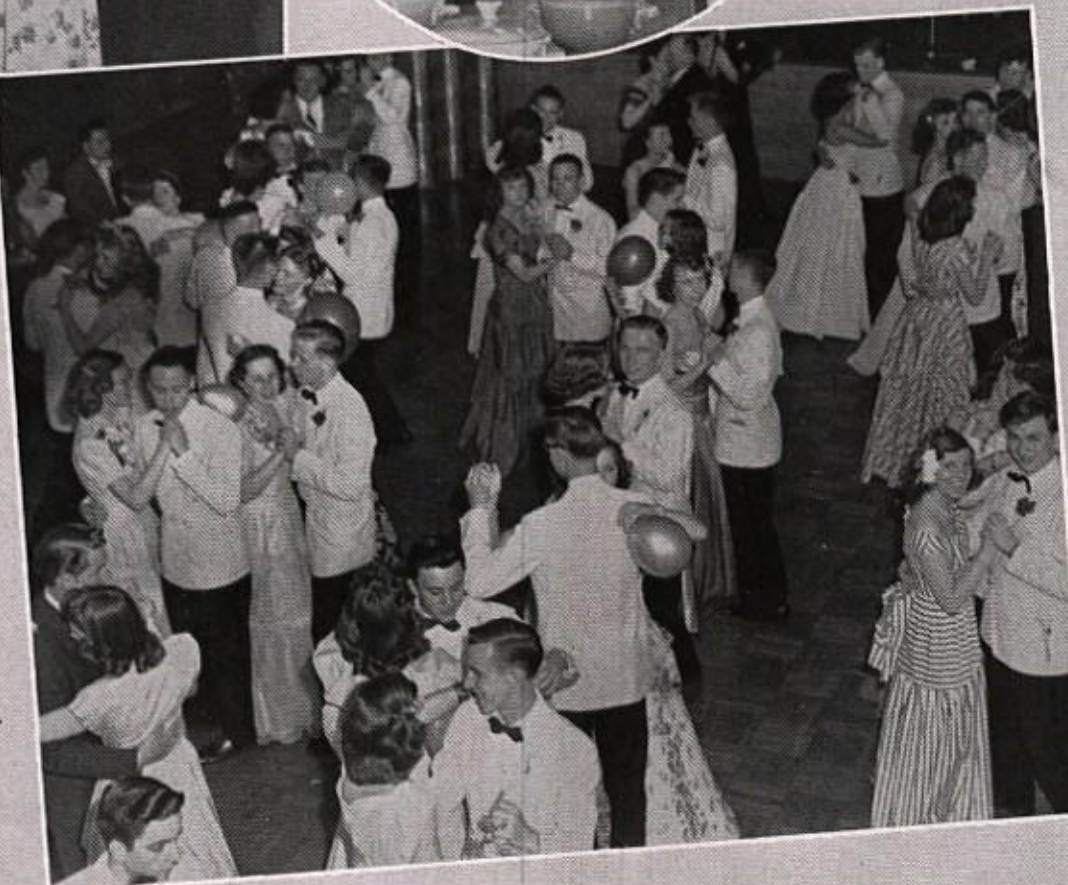

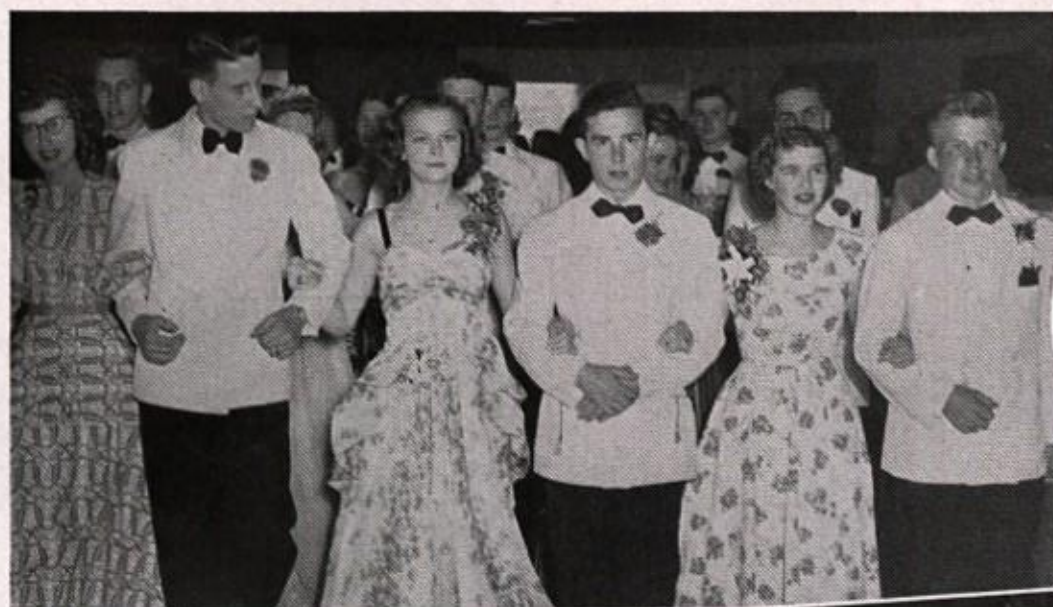

Murray's 1948 Junior-Senior Prom had all of the thrill and excitement attached to the school's top social event of the year. With the theme "Star Dust" setting the stage, couples danced to the strains of Les Williams' band. Gold, silver, and blue balloons floated from the ceiling of the ballroom of the Women's City Club where the Prom was held.

Below, right, Barbara Geddes and Kyle Peterson lead the grand march followed by Marilyn Mansergh and Kenneth Carlson, and Earlene Petrie and Richard Eddy.

Joanne Petersen admires her corsage as she looks in the mirror while pinning the posies in place.

Pictured below are the merry dancers with "star dust" in their eyes.

While Hi-Y is not an organization new to Murray, this is the first year that the group has been recognized as a unit of the school's activities.

Two chapters have operated this year under the sponsorship of the YMCA, leader of the Hi-Y movement.

Under the guidance of Robert Joseph, president, Chapter 1 has devoted its efforts toward European relief work, a project of the National Hi-Y. This Murray Chapter received the citation for being one of the state's model Hi-Y units.

CHAPTER I MURRAY HI-Y

Como Park Chapter, directed by president Jerry Gillett, stepped its program towards school projects. During the year it sponsored intramural athletics for all boys. Members of the organization planned, participated in, and financed the entire intramural program.

Both branches of the organization held social affairs that were enjoyed by all students.

NEW CLUB PUSHES FORWARD

To everyone who is responsible for the organization of Boys' League congratulations are surely the order of the day. Both officers and board members have been building the foundations during these past months for a promising Boys' League future.

While many boys have been engaged in sports or affiliated with other clubs, both Principal W. J. Scanlan and Assistant Principal John Wooley felt that an organization was needed that would in some way unify the common interests of high school boys.

Meetings each month were of interest to members as sports, occupational opportunities, summer work, civic attitudes, and other topics received consideration. Mr. Wooley, adviser, aided by president Jack Folsom and the program committee, endeavored to secure top speakers and entertainment.

"While our field has been somewhat limited this year," comments Mr. Wooley, "we hope to have a very active and useful Boys' League next fall. It takes time to get rolling. We aim to hold the interest of our members, to aid all boys who need individual help, and to be of service to the school."

The organization's social event of the season was a valentine dance sponsored jointly with Girls' League. During intermission Patricia Palarine was chosen as the queen of the valentine celebration.

Jack Folsom, president, deserves special mention for helping to get Boys' League into the field of the school's activities.

Making Others Happy

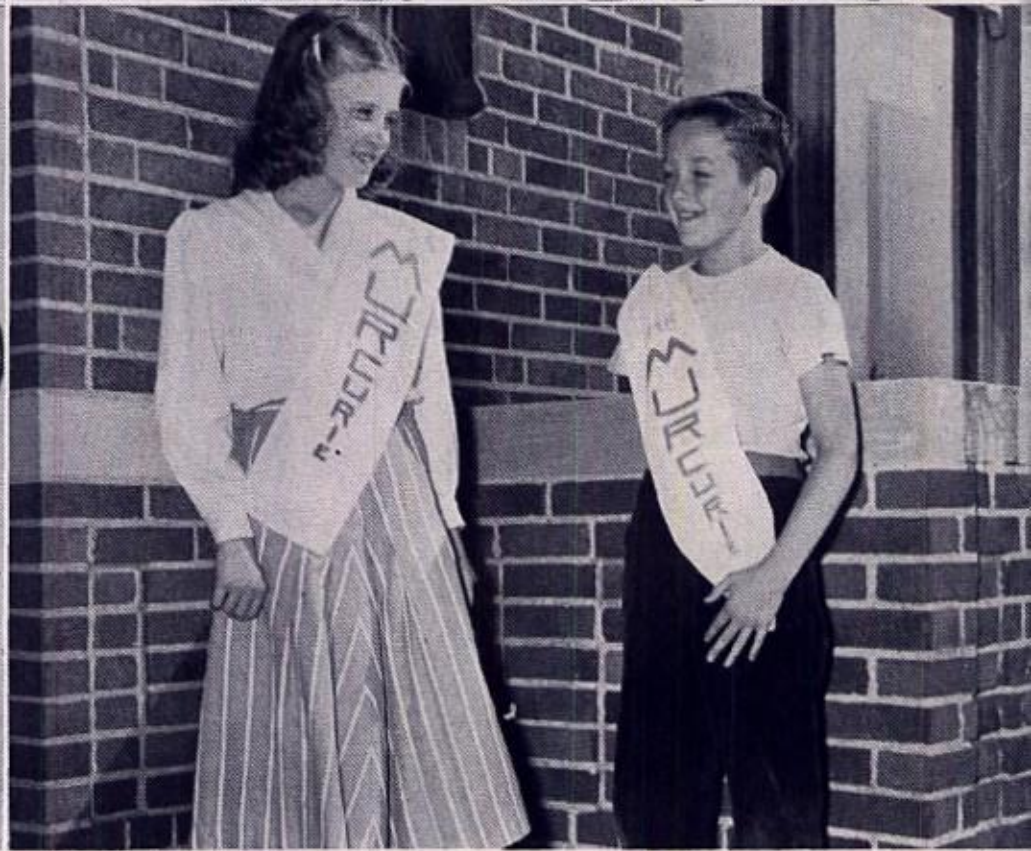

Generous Americans are these Boys' League representatives as they help Quill and Scroll members pack a gift box for Murray's European child. Wrapping and packing packages are Ron Christians and John Kreuthmeier.

EVERY CORNER TELLS

In every corner of Murray someone is busily working to see that the routine of the day goes on merrily and often hurriedly. Here is Mrs. Dora McCall taking cookies from the oven. Mrs. Vida Styles is measuring cake flour, and Mrs. Agnes Paddock is ready to roll a pie as Mrs. Vivian Morrisette waits to get to the sugar jar.

Name a school that does not go "Sadie Hawkins" minded now and then. The fall saw Murrayites attending this dance with great anticipation on the part of the girls. Virginia Hogberg makes a good Daisy Mae as she pleads with Warren Jensen, a shy Abner.

Classy is the word for the well-organized equipment room for athletics. Here Mr. Ralph Engebretson, football coach, is checking and writing down orders as Bob Granovsky counts basketball uniforms, and Owen Eckblom counts hockey sticks.

Out-of-doors go two willing messengers of good will. They are Patty Christensen and Ronald Taylor, Miss and Mr. Murcurie of 1948. During lunch periods and after school they wore the badges of honor as they helped to boost the fall Murcurie subscription campaign.

ITS OWN STORY

Time out for the police boys to rest a minute between lunch shifts—this busy patrol not only watches hall traffic and helps with locker checking, but they are also indispensable to the lunch room. Here are Louie Peterson, Jack Och, Harold Hervig, Donald Money, Warren Schulze, George Sumner, Lawrence Voita, and Donald Olson.

More than once a teacher has said a prayerful "thank you" for the work done by Miss Florence Vest's efficient stage crew. From left to right are Dwight Rosenberg, Ward Jensen, Chester Peterson, Harold Grove, Dale Connolly, Bill Hendrickson, and David Koch.

"You name it—we shall do it!" is the motto of Miss Valborg Helseth's advanced transcription and typing group. Stencils, typing, filing, and even clever stencil designs all become part of the day's routine to these efficient workers. Here Audrey Stephenson, Audrey Thom, and Norman Miller are busily at work.

STREAMLINED is the word for the enterprising Larpenteur-Snelling area where service and progress are the chief characteristics of this growing community.

CANTEEN NIGHTS ARE

TOPS WITH MURRAYITES

Everyone from seniors to freshmen frolicked to the Canteen on Friday evenings to "see the gang." Most of the fun was derived from sipping "cokes" and smoothly bouncing to the latest "juke-box" records.

"Swing your partner with a do-si-do." Although most of the dancing at the Murray Canteen this year was carried on in the popular vein, square dancing was met with the enthusiastic approval of the students who clapped in rhythm with the calls.

Special dances including the Harvest Ball were sponsored by the Canteen Committee. Free dances featuring Twin City bands such as Bud Strawn were approved by the students. "After-school dances" were also popular.

During the year even the rumba and conga found their way into the varied dance program.

Acquire More Than Technical Skills

The better positions in business demand more of young people today than a working knowledge of a few business skills. Successful applicants for top-flight positions must have pleasing personalities, initiative, poise, enthusiasm, and ability to get along with others. Fortunately, these qualities can be acquired by study and training just as surely as skill in typing, shorthand, and accounting can be acquired. This program of study is called "Career Training" here at the Minnesota School of Business. In these classes, the fine art of successful human relations is carefully studied under the guidance of capable teachers.

BUY AT THE SCHOOL SUPPLY STORE

An efficient and busy staff comprise the Student Supply Store group supervised by Mrs. Helene Becker.

Early each morning staff members are on hand to service the long line that forms before school. Everything that is necessary to school supplies may be purchased at this student-owned and operated store.

The Supply Store staff does its own bookkeeping, buying, and invoicing, and the group is already looking over catalogues preparing for the fall rush of business.

High school will soon be a memory as new interests and events crowd upon the horizon of tomorrow.

May you carry with you the American ideals that have been given to you over the years so that you may take your place in the world with those who believe in the destiny of these United States.

Best of wishes to Murray graduates of 1949.

A Friend

More Than a Publishing Co.

When the Murcurie or the PILOT is ready for the big presses, a skilled workman in the person of Mr. Kronebusch is ready to take over the tricky job of seeing that the completed pages are as ordered. Here he is showing the Murcurie's co-editor Mary Louise Markley and sports' editor Duane (Bing) Thompson a few technical points pertaining to his work.

North Central is more than a publishing company to the many journalism students whose publications are printed here. This firm prides itself in setting up for students a laboratory where the young journalists may learn the fundamentals of "make-up," printing terms, and press work from skilled craftsmen.

North Central not only prints many of the school papers and yearbooks in the Northwest, but the company also has its own cover and binding departments.

Which to exchange is the question as Art Koch and Dolores Harris look over their pictures at Gollings Studio.

Do you recall the exciting day of last fall when you got your proofs from GOLLING'S? Some seniors were surprised to find that they were so photogenic. Others just HAD to have retakes.

At GOLLING'S STUDIO willing helpers and photographers worked patiently to satisfy the hundreds of patrons from various high schools—a compliment in itself that this studio was chosen by the majority of all high school students.

Come fall and another group of seniors will find their way to the studio that gives efficient and satisfactory service.
